

hard trotting, and some splendid high, low, jack movements before the summer is over.

[illegible]

at the hotel; their bed and trunks were searched, and in and under them were found a bunch of twenty dollars in keys, several shillings, grog, files, and other instruments of crime. The prisoners were dressed in pairs of ladies' white kid gloves, a considerable quantity of valuable thread lace, and some other plunder. The prisoners were taken to the jail, and about his person nearly $1,000 in good money, and among his papers a certificate of deposit for $1,000 on the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, New York, in California. After a patient hearing of several hours, and arguments of counsel, the prisoners were both bound over for trial, and at half past ten o'clock they were sent down to the jail in London by an extra train.

It is said the trunk of Mr. Myrie contained $4,500 in gold, and that he returned to his native land from the Southern and Western states and was on his way to New York and Boston, to embark for Liverpool. If this is true, the prisoners are well supplied with cash, and they will probably escape, but if he is detained as a witness, the court will doubtless show them to Sing Sing for a year or two, for burglary, although they are charged with it, and the court will send them to the house, with intent to steal, is considered burglary by the law of New York.

At the trial, the United States informed me this morning that the number of boarders at that magnificent establishment exceeded seven hundred. That is a pretty large family to take care of. It is an addition to the three hundred and thirty of August. To do the cooking, and make the pastry and confectionary for this house—three separate departments—will require a large staff of hands.

Our Sardinian Correspondence.

TURIN, June 30, 1850.

the latter, some sixty, or more. Besides these, there are more or less of the servants of the various consulates, bankers, and about a score of German Jews, who are far from two hundred. It must take a fortune to support this numerous corps of operatives, for they generally contrive to feed on the best the market affords, if there is any of that quality about the house, and then they are very particular and fastidious in their eating habits, and will not touch anything but the best.

to at least ten thousand dollars. But with these and the other things that he has done, he has made the Hotel, it is believed that Marvin and Co. will clear from thirty to forty thousand dollars, the present season.

There are, at this time, some splendid equipages here from New York—a dozen, or more—the handsomest of which, as I think, is that of Mr. Whittemore.

The Pope is in undisturbed occupation of Rome; this

The elements of civil war are now in Sardinia; but should war take place, it will be local in its character. The King is disposed to coalesce with the National Guards and ultras; should he persist in this movement, it will end in his abdication and ruin. Sardinia is a

There are several pairs of horses in the stable at the residence of the American ambassador in Paris, who, belonging to New Yorkers, who have their drivers and attendants dressed in livery, and make a display that cannot be excelled. There are about two hundred of the up-town aristocracy of your city here, and among them, the American ambassador, and his wife. The education is bound on a cruise to the coast of France and Spain. This ship, I am informed, sustains her former

They make a great display in the hall-room, since the latter is a large and very interestingly beautiful at all times. Good-bye the ladies!

There is a large number of fashionable New Yorkers at Congress Hall also, and a few at Union Hall. The former establishment, under its present proprietor, Mr. Brown, is not regarded as the old popular place, and a new one, we think, will be the most popular.

A REMARKABLE FEAT OF A MANTIC, is noticed by the Trenton Times American as having occurred at Bordentown yesterday morning. The locomotive which was to haul the morning mail train, the engine of which was misused, and the engineers procured another. When they reached Trenton they discovered the mis-

He has moved for a while to the city, but he will be brought here by Judge Becker, in this village, on Friday next, and, probably, admitted to bail. I now learn that the amount of money they had about them was divided nearly equal, of gold currency, between the two. I have heard from a reliable source that the New York city banks, and nearly $20 pieces, of gold currency, in ad-

MANHATTAN HOUSE, CAPE ISLAND, July 26, 1890.
The Governor of Pennsylvania at Cape Island—His Honor,
The Governor of Pennsylvania at Cape Island—His Honor,

Early on Tuesday morning, certain "ambiguous sightings out" were turned adrift upon the sea of surmise, to the effect that Governor Johnston had left the capital, and was expected to arrive on the island.

the Philadelphia boat, in the evening. Everybody looked knowing, and yet nobody seemed posted up on the matter of "thick coming events"—every face you met wore an expression which was intended to say, "You won't surprise me—I'm in the secret!" or "It's all very well—but I have been consulted!" At the olumbia House, a very small committee of distinguished patriots, consisting of a custom house officer or two, and a military gentleman or two of renown, were grouped together in mysterious conclave, looking at each other with unutterable, under the burden of some unimpeachable diplomatic agency. A child of Africa, in a little fib, was quickly despatched, with a real white horse, to the cottage of a gentleman, with the intent of effecting a loan of his private carriage, the most superb vehicle on the island, to be used on an occasion of immense magnitude. The gentleman declined, and the committee were indignant. Between two and three o'clock, the committee met in the hall, August 24th, unless he anticipate his doom by suicide.—Reson Daily Times, July 24.

The late Hon. DANIEL P. KING, of MAINE.—Mr. King was a native of Danvers. He graduated at Harvard College, in the class of 1851, which was composed of Rev. Samuel H. Stearns, (late pastor of the Old South Church, Boston,) and Messrs. Loring, Brewster, Frothingham, Sumner, Esq., Thomas, W. Dorr, of Illinois, and others. At an early age he contemplated the study of

Mr. Johnston had arrived, and was about to be escorted to his hotel, by Old Chambers, who had previously been deposited in the hands of the Sheriff, to give the Executive a fitting and proper reception. The Governor was invited to step into the modest wagon, and was immediately followed by his friend, the Colonel, and his wife, and away they went, leaving the assistants behind to follow at a later day.

Without a solitary shout or other manifestation of the presence at the meeting, and in front of the "Old Keystone" at a fashionable watering place, I was elected Speaker on the fourth day of the session, after many unsuccessful ballottings, by one majority—the same as elected Marcus Morton Governor the same year. The vote stood 176 to 175. While filling this honor, his excellency brought forward a candidate for Representative to Congress from the Second Congressional District, and he was elected by a small ma-part, while I was absent at the Strattons Springs. Now, as soon as I returned, I wish it to be distinctly understood that my friend, Wm. F. Johnston, is to be tendered the best liquors in your charge, whether he may call for a drink! Am I understood, sir?" The men in office nodded an affirmative. The Colonel then proceeded to the servants' hall, and there delivered the following address:

The white lead manufactory is now in operation at Steubenville, Ohio, which produces one hundred kags per day.

On this affair by the assertion, that it was as rich a burlesque as has ever fallen under my notice—no extensive saw-pipe and bagging factory, at Lexington Mo. was recently destroyed by fire, in consequence of having been struck by lightning. Loss, $16,000.

A fire occurred at Natchez, Miss., on the 13th inst., between G. Brown and J. Harris, in which both were mortally stabbed.

may, he was besieged by a certain class of nonentities, at a time when the island was thronged with his personal friends. As an instance of the selfish feeling by which this old organization was actuated, it should be stated that the young men of the Manalo House proposed, at their own expense, to have a line of carriages proceed to the landing, on the arrival of the

on the 19th inst.

Gen. Luther Severance, U. S. Commissioner to the Sandwich Islands, will sail for Honolulu from Boston, on the 10th of August, proximo.

AMBER.—A letter from Stettin states that the amount of yellow amber collected this year has and thus bestow a courteous and proper manifestation of welcome. The proposition failed to meet the ap-been unusually great. Almost the whole quantity obtained was at once bought up for England.